

SEARCH FOR A RESEARCHER TO INCLUDE IN PROPOSAL

The Livestock and Climate Change Center of the Animal Sciences Faculty, La Molina University, Lima, Peru led by Dr. Carlos Gómez will submit a research proposal to the Peruvian Council for Science and Technology (CONCYTEC), call Integral Projects 2020-01. The proposed research will investigate the “Supplementary feeding of multi-nutrient blocks based on agro-industrial by-products to cattle in the Tropics”. We are looking to include a researcher with the following qualifications in the proposal:

- Foreign or Peruvian researcher who lives abroad or has returned to Peru in the last 4 years.
- PhD Degree, obtained abroad or with working experience abroad in animal nutrition, animal science, or related field with experience in ruminant production and nutrition.
- Five years of experience in coordinating research projects.
- Evidence of scholarly accomplishments, such as peer-reviewed journals, technical reports, and books.
- Experience in supervision and training of students or research technicians.

Additional information

- If the proposal is approved, the researcher will join a team with international researchers including international research centers.
- Duration of the project: 18 months.
- Anticipated start of the project: June 2020.
- Researcher monthly salary (gross, no taxes included):
 - US$ 3,670 (12,500 PEN) if has a permanent residence in Peru.
 - US$ 4,470 (15,200 PEN) if has a permanent residence outside Peru.
- If are interested to be included in the proposal, please send your CVs to Carlos Gómez (cagomez@lamolina.edu.pe) by February 28th 2020.
- For more information about this opportunity, please contact Carlos Gómez (cagomez@lamolina.edu.pe) or visit the following link:
<https://www.fondecyt.gob.pe/convocatorias/investigacion-cientifica/proyectos-integrales>