IMLS grant work

- IMLS = Institute of Museum and Library Services, a US federal government agency
- A collaboration with JournalMap, a website that maps journal articles onto the geographic locations where the research took place
 - JournalMap is located with a professor at the University of Idaho
- Developed a prototype for a new JournalMap and ideas for how external databases can interact with JournalMap

In the meantime

- I've been adding new citations to my Zotero which will eventually be added to the Croplands Literature Database

Going forward

- We applied for another IMLS grant – Round 1
- We will find out in early 2022 if we can submit a final round grant proposal
- Adding University of Arizona as a collaborator
